

EDPlan™ MTSS Starter Kit

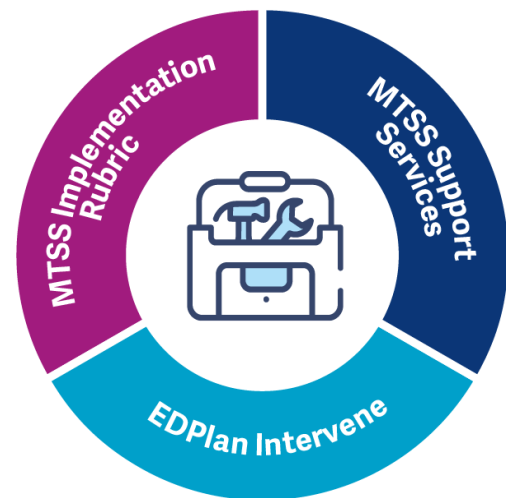

Now more than ever before, educators are telling us that students have returned to the classroom with greater academic and social-emotional needs. Early planning is central to responding to these critical needs.

An equity-based Multi-Tiered System of Supports (MTSS) positively and significantly affects the performance of all students. MTSS establishes a consistent approach to identification, prevention, and intervention, and calls for a continuum of supports at the district and school level based on student need. This upcoming school year will require school leaders to evaluate their current intervention practices and develop a comprehensive plan to address the extraordinary range and intensity of student needs.
